MENTAL HEALTH IN THE WORKPLACE

beyondblue National Workplace Program

Workplace training program for staff, managers, human resources (HR) and organisational leaders

beyondblue NATIONAL WORKPLACE PROGRAM

WHAT IS THE NATIONAL WORKPLACE PROGRAM?

The beyondblue National Workplace Program (NWP) is a training program specifically for workplace settings. It aims to increase the knowledge and skills of staff, managers, human resources (HR) and organisational leaders to address mental health conditions in the workplace.

The NWP uses an evidence-based approach, and focuses on:

- increasing the awareness and understanding of anxiety, depression and suicide in the workplace
- having a conversation with someone you are concerned about
- building confidence to support a colleague or employee who may be experiencing anxiety and depression
- supporting recovery at work
- creating a mentally healthy workplace.

WORKPLACE PRESENTATIONS AND WORKSHOPS AVAILABLE

beyondblue offers a range of workshops designed to meet the needs of various audiences within organisations, from senior leaders, to managers, to all staff.

1. Creating a mentally healthy workplace: Executive briefing

Recommended session length: 45 minutes

Maximum participant numbers: 25

Designed for: Senior executives and leaders in organisations

This briefing is designed to increase participants' knowledge about anxiety, depression and suicide.

The benefits of creating a mentally healthy workplace will be discussed, and current research supporting this will be provided. Through the use of case studies and facilitated discussion, the actions that individual leaders and organisations can take to create mentally healthy workplaces will be explored.

This session can be tailored to include key themes or areas of concern for the executive team.

2. Mental health in the workplace: Increasing awareness and understanding within organisations

Recommended session length: 60 minutes

Maximum participant numbers: 100

Designed for: Staff at all levels within the organisation

This presentation is designed to increase participants' knowledge about anxiety, depression and suicide. Participants will be provided with information about mentally healthy workplaces, and resources and helplines available.

3. Mental health in the workplace: Awareness and strategies for employees

Recommended session length: 120 minutes

Maximum participant numbers: 25

Designed for: Employees (excluding managers, supervisors and team leaders)

This workshop is designed to increase participants' knowledge about the impact of anxiety, depression and suicide on the individual and the workplace.

Participants will be provided with information on mentally healthy workplaces. They will discuss strategies and resources from the Heads Up website (www.headsup.org.au) that can be applied to their own work environment. Heads Up offers individuals and organisations free tools and resources to take action on mental health at work. Through the use of case studies and facilitated discussion, participants will become more confident in the principles and planning required to approach a colleague they might be concerned about, and how to support them during their recovery.

4. Mental health in the workplace: Awareness and strategies for managers

Recommended session length: 180 minutes

Maximum participant numbers: 25

Designed for: Managers, team leaders and supervisors

This workshop is designed to increase participants' knowledge about the impact of anxiety, depression and suicide on the individual and the organisation.

Participants will be provided with information on how to create a mentally healthy workplace. They will discuss strategies and resources from the Heads Up website (www.headsup.org.au) that can be applied to their own work environment. Heads Up offers individuals and organisations free tools and resources to help them create a mentally healthy workplace. Through the use of case studies and facilitated discussion, participants will become more confident in the principles and planning required to approach an employee they might be concerned about, and how to support them during their recovery.

5. Mental health in the workplace: Awareness and strategies for HR professionals

Recommended session length: 210 minutes

Maximum participant numbers: 25

Designed for: HR professionals

This workshop has been designed specifically for HR professionals (and similarly appointed professionals, e.g. work health and safety (WHS) and return to work coordinators) and builds on the learnings and strategies covered in the managers' workshop.

It provides an opportunity for the participants to explore some of the complexities and challenges that can arise in the workplace when supporting someone with a mental health condition.

This workshop allows more time to focus on complex case studies, and practical strategies to promote good mental health in the workplace.

WHY HAVE THE NWP AT YOUR WORKPLACE?

The NWP is designed to meet the specific needs of organisations. It has been extensively implemented and evaluated across a range of organisational settings throughout Australia since its launch in 2004. It has been delivered to over 100,000 participants in more than 1,000 organisations across Australia, including:

- Commonwealth, state/territory and local governments
- large corporate organisations
- 'blue collar' industries (e.g. mining, construction and transport)
- small and medium enterprises
- not-for-profit organisations.

It has been shown to significantly:

- increase awareness
- decrease stigma
- improve attitudes
- increase people's confidence to assist someone to seek support.

The NWP has consistently been rated highly by participants, with the majority indicating that they would recommend the training to others, and rating the relevance to their jobs as good or excellent.

Program facilitators have extensive workplace mental health knowledge and experience. They all have tertiary qualifications in health, and proven skills and experience in adult education.
